Spotlight Family The Alston's

Mike and Peggy Alston (Grandpa and Grandma) moved to Kentucky from Orange County, California in 2003 for work. It was only meant to be a 5 year stay before retirement back in California, near their 4 children and 12 grandchildren, but things changed quickly! While living here, they fell in love with the beauty of Kentucky, and realized that they did not miss the hectic Southern California lifestyle so much!

When their daughter Molly and son-in-law Mike came to visit, they too fell in love with Kentucky, and made the decision to have a dramatic change in their life and move here as well. Mike quit his job, they sold their home in Carlsbad, California and moved themselves and their boys here.

Both couples, Mike and Peggy & Mike and Molly, combined forces and bought their home here in Northridge Farms in the summer of 2007. Upon arrival, they knew that they made the right choice. Mike was located by a headhunter and offered a position of Sales Manager for Pella Windows and Doors, and they settled into their new life here quite nicely.

Grandpa Mike was able to retire and enjoy his workshop and wine cellar. Peggy and Molly settled into a routine of running errands and running after kids.

In the Spring of 2008, Mike and Molly welcomed their 4th son, Jude. He joined big brothers Cameron (21), Bradley (5), and Sebastian (3). As you can imagine, their household is very lively and loud. You have probably seen or met Molly on one of her daily walks though the neighborhood, usually with one or more of her boys. Mike and Molly enjoy an active life with their kids. They love to travel, hike, run, walk..almost any outdoor activity.

All in all, both couples are happy with the decision they made to share a home and life together, and encourage other families to consider it as well! If you can make it work, the benefits are fantastic!
