Spotlight Family

The Marcys

"We've lived here longer than we've lived anywhere else," said Gordon and Cyndi Marcy, this month's family in the Spotlight.

The Marcy's moved to 4401 Carolyn Court in 2002. Gordon's work as a general manager in Christian broadcasting has taken the family to Phoenix, Santa Barbara, Camarillo, Boston, Houston, Palm Springs and Kansas City.

They both agree that Louisville has been their favorite place to live, and the quality of life in North Ridge Farms and Oldham County one of the big reasons.

The couple have five adult children. In August, they celebrated the arrival of Elias Robert, grandchild number seven. Of their children, Lisa and Jonathan live in Kentucky. Michelle, Sharajane and Laura, along with the seven grandchildren, all reside in the Houston area.

Cyndi has always been a stay-at-home Mom and homemaker. She has been active as a children and women's ministry leader everywhere they've lived. She is a master gardener and third-generation seamstress, and takes custom sewing jobs by request. Gordon is Chairman of Capstone Alliance, a group of organizations helping churches and non-profits build and operate Internet broadcast ministries. He is also the current President of the NRF Homeowners Association. "I regret not volunteering sooner and encourage everyone to serve at least once," he said.

The Marcy's are members of Southeast Christian Church and will be joining the Oldham Campus of the church when it opens in December or January. They're considering relocating to Texas - also home for all of Gordon's brothers and sisters - to be closer to family. They say it would be hard to leave.
